INFALLIBILITY OF THE POPE.

The Ecumenical Council, which opened on the 8th of December, and, in the Pope in his allocution, was the first council to be assembled in Rome for three hundred years, was called together with the consent of the governments of the world. The reason for this powerful and unanimous consent was the fact that the Church was in danger, and the governments knew it. Its peril, in its relations to so much of the general solidarity of the council, or faith of the Church, as to the temporalities in the custody of travelling, or political, or social affairs, was a matter of faith in the minds of the governments which sent ambassadorial officers. Being very fully informed as Church matters, and having a proper and reasonable fear for the safety of the Church of Rome to which it owes its existence, and which is the source of all that is good among the governments of Christendom, they sent their ambassadors.

The theologians of Europe are now discussing the ecclesiastical dogma of the infallibility of the Pope. The question before the council was the definition of that infallibility of the Pope in the dogmas of the Roman Catholic Church. That is a mistake. The axiom or rule which the various councils of the Church have adopted as the basis of their action is, "What has been believed everywhere, always, and by everybody, is to be believed." It is not the definition of the Church that creates the dogma, but the dogma that creates the definition. The council is this week to call and the question of the infallibility of the Pope is brought to the Church from the beginning; and if they answer affirmatively, and the Pope shall agree with them, that his infallibility will be a dogma of the Church, which no one can deny.

That the infallibility of the Pope has never been a dogma of the Church hitherto is shown by the fact that it is now brought before the Church. The Church, as a body, has always been the declared faith; but that of the Pope, though dimmed from the beginning, has only been declared by individual Popes, and, in all time, been peculiarly denied by all the councils of the Church. Even in the days when the Popes were the Kings of Kings, and when the Kings of Europe held their crowns by the favor of the Pope, it was still made a matter of debate. The Pope desired it, as did his advisers, and sought to make it a dogma of the Church, as it is now; but the Church refused. It is perhaps, in its relations to so much of the general solidarity of the council, or faith of the Church, as to the temporalities in the custody of travelling, or political, or social affairs, was a matter of faith in the minds of the governments which sent ambassadorial officers. Being very fully informed as to

THE ANTI-PAPAL CONGRESS.

PARIS, Dec. 11.

A Rome special says the Anti-Papal Congress reports that, as the commencement of the meeting of the Ecumenical Council approaches, the number of bishops present at Rome is increasing daily. Bishops from all parts of the world. The opposition to the Council will be directed by President Minghetti, Leaders of opposition in the Chamber, at the Council, from Italy, from other European Countries, and from other distinguished parties, inclined to the Papal cause. Many letters and telegrams have been received, with pious donations, which are to assist in the support of the Council.

THE ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.

PARIS, Dec. 11.

The Ecumenical Council has adjourned until after Epiphany. Not the slightest hope is entertained of the reconciling of the Pope, but the Pope is said to be in favor of the co-operation of the American Bishops.

PLAIN TALK FROM SPURGEON.

THE MORMON DISSENTIENTS.

Cause of the Secession from Brigham Young's Community—Views of Some of W. A. Godbe and E. L. T. Harrison—The Church of Zion.

From the Salt Lake Reporter.

Inasmuch as a great variety of rumors have been started with reference to our views concerning the late secession from the Church, and the real differences which gave rise to it, we deem it proper to state briefly what we understand to be the principles which have led to the withdrawal of a number of our brethren from the Church, and to the establishment of the Church of Zion.

The first principle of difference is that we believe in the Bible as the word of God, and that we are willing to receive all that is written therein, and to practice all that is required of us therein, whether it has been practiced by the Church or not. We believe that the Bible contains the fullness of the Gospel, and that it is sufficient for the salvation of the human family. We believe that the Bible contains the fullness of the Gospel, and that it is sufficient for the salvation of the human family. We believe that the Bible contains the fullness of the Gospel, and that it is sufficient for the salvation of the human family.

Mrs Gratian on Concerning Same—Blooming at the Academy of Music.

From the New York Tribune, Dec. 10.

At the Academy of Music last night Mrs. Gratian gave the last of the longest list of concerts that any singer has ever announced. Other violinists have come and gone, and other violinists will come and go, but Mrs. Gratian will remain. She has been a fixture in the concert line for so long that she has become a part of the musical history of the country.
